

Jay Corbalis is Vice President of Public Affairs for JBG SMITH. In that capacity he works with a range of stakeholders to create long-term value by aligning interests in transportation investments in National Landing. Prior to joining JBG SMITH, Jay was part of the Mixed-Use Development Team at Federal Realty Investment Trust, where he worked on large redevelopment projects like Pike & Rose. Jay has an undergraduate degree in Urban and Regional Studies from Cornell University, and a graduate degree in real estate development from Georgetown University. He and his wife live in Silver Spring, MD.