

Supervisor Dalia Palchik

Supervisor Dalia Palchik moved to Fairfax from Argentina when she was six years old. She knew one word of English upon arrival to the United States and enrolled in ESOL classes in Fairfax County Public Schools, and worked her way to Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and Technology and then Tufts University.

As someone who took full advantage of the programs available in Fairfax County, Dalia knows the importance of providing these services to widen the circle of opportunity for others in our community.

Dalia loves to use alternative modes of transportation. Following safety guidelines, she rides the bus to work as often as possible, it reminds her of her roots in Buenos Aires where residents ride the bus regularly. She is also starting to bike to work as well, taking advantage of the pedestrian friendly trails in the Providence District. Dalia also serves as Secretary-Treasurer for the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission NVTC.

Supervisor Palchik is committed to focusing on transportation through the lens of advocating for improved bicycle and pedestrian connectivity, ensuring safety, and prioritizing equity and strengthening engagement. She believes this work is best done across agencies in Fairfax County and in collaboration with state representatives and stakeholders.
